

Wellesley College boasts of having the best woman's crew in the country. From the bow aft: The Misses Mildred Hesse, Bronxville, N. Y.; Helen Sherman, Helen Gates, Eleanor Snow, Jeanette Luther, Marion Smith, Gladys Hathaway, Dorothy Brainard, stroke, and Miss Sybil Wardwell, coxswain. Underwood & Underwood.

All "reg'lar fellers" who live near the Harlem, East or Hudson river have a swim by Decoration Day. Here's a bunch caught by the camera man just after their plunge in the Harlem. Paul Thompson.

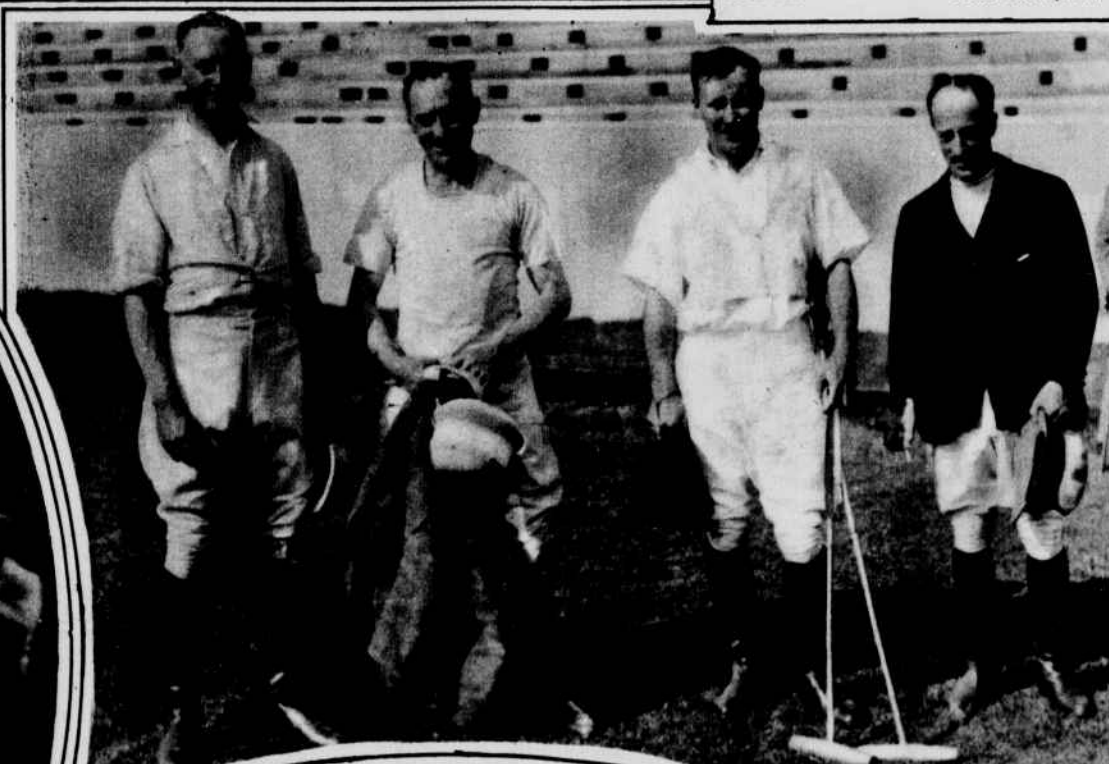

Miss Audrey Hoffman watching the Metropolitan Handicap from a box on the opening day of the Belmont Park race track. Central News Service.

Wide World.

B. I. C. Norton, famous South African player, photographed in action at the Roehampton (England) tennis tournament.

Above—British team that defeated the Americans in the first trial match at Hurlingham, 3 goals to 2. Left to right: W. S. Buckmaster, Major F. W. Barrett, Capt. Traill, Duke of Penderanda. In oval—Capt. Traill (sheepskin saddle cloth) taking the ball from C. C. Rumsey (No. 1) in Hurlingham trial match, May 16. Central News Service.

Miss Eleanor Fales Coward, whose marriage on June 16 next to John Howard Mallon promises to bring a noted throng to the Church of the Epiphany. Copyright, Underwood & Underwood.

Two keenly interested spectators at the opening of Belmont Park race track, both prominent socially, Mrs. Charles de Loosy Oelrichs and Mrs. Leonard Thomas, on the clubhouse lawn. International.

Graduating class of 1921 at the Finch School. Seated: The Misses Janice Leonard, Elizabeth Baskerville, Anne Kenny, Marie Wilson, Elizabeth Cooper. Standing: The Misses Katharine Maxwell, Emma Williamson, Elizabeth Bidgood, Constance Luft, Lola Taylor, Faith Douglas, Mary Johns. Photo E. F. Foley.